Conducting a Pilot Course

1. Purpose

After curriculum submissions are reviewed and found to satisfy course requirements, a school may be required to conduct a pilot course for evaluation by ICBC before receiving final course approval.

The purpose of conducting a pilot course is to ensure that the course submitted for approval is effectively and appropriately delivered according to established program standards and requirements.

The pilot course provides an opportunity for ICBC to evaluate a live course; provide constructive feedback to the school and its instructors; and work through any necessary amendments before granting course approval.

2. Instructor Requirements

- Each instructor involved in delivering the pilot course must hold a valid Class 6/8 BC Instructor's Licence with a GLP designation.
- All instructors must be listed on the school's personnel list.
- The school's security bond must be sufficient for all listed instructors.
- The pilot course must be delivered by those who will regularly deliver the approved course.

3. Trainee Requirements

- Classroom training must be delivered to a minimum of 3 trainees.
- The instructor must teach at least one real trainee, the other trainees may be mock trainees
- Practical training must be delivered to at least one real trainee.
- Each trainee involved in practical training must hold a valid Class 6 or 8 BC Driver's and/or Learner's Licence.

4. Course Delivery Requirements

- All training must be conducted fully, completely and according to the approved course submission.
- All training must be conducted according to the requirement in the GLP Agreement.
- Mid-point and final assessments must be conducted according to prescribed requirements (e.g., using the Competency Checklist).
- Declaration of Completion (MV2910) forms (DOCs) will not be issued to the school until the pilot course is successfully completed and course approval is finalized.

5. Advertising Requirements

- The pilot course must be advertised as a “pilot course” to all participating trainees.
- Each trainee must be provided with a written statement prior to the start of the course as per Division 27 (27.06[2]) and include the following:
 - Participation in this “pilot course” does not guarantee the issuance of a Declaration of Completion.
 - Declaration of Completion forms will not be issued to trainees unless the school receives final course approval from ICBC.

6. Pilot Course Evaluation

- The pilot course will be evaluated by ICBC
- The school must advise the ICBC inspector of the pilot course schedule (dates, times, locations) so that appropriate times to inspect the school, observe training and assessments can be scheduled.
- The evaluation will include a school facility and records inspection and the following components of the course:
 - Classroom training (sample or complete course)
 - Sample of Novice Level (off-highway) practical training
 - Sample of Final Level (on-road) practical training
 - Mid-point and final assessments and feedback
- The inspector will provide feedback throughout the course to facilitate on-going improvement, as needed

7. Successful Pilot Course

- If the pilot course is successful, then the course will be approved and the school will receive a course approval package including approval letter, signed Agreement, initial supply of Declaration of Completion forms, and a school GLP stamp.
- Once the school receives the course approval package, the school can issue Declaration of Completion forms to qualified trainees.

8. Unsuccessful Pilot Course

- If the pilot course is unsuccessful, then the next steps will be determined by ICBC.
- Trainees who attend an unsuccessful GLP pilot course may transfer to another school (GLP-approved) to complete training. To facilitate the transfer, the inspector will issue a letter to the trainee specifying the hours of training completed and outlining the requirements of the receiving school. GLP-approved schools are under no obligation to accept transferring students.
